THE FARMER'S DISCOVERIES

Perhaps the most encouraging phase of the farmer's troubles is that they have caused him to look with a new and inquiring mind on economic and social problems.

He has discovered that the world has changed much—that methods that were good thirty years ago are disastrous now. He is finding out that no one can prosper alone in a world in which the interests of every business, every producer, are inextricably intermingled. He is finding that the co-operative ideal—whether in industry, or agriculture, or simply social relations—points the road to stability and permanence.

During the depression thousands of farmers have joined cooperatives. Thousands of others have redoubled their efforts in behalf of their cooperative, where before they simply held "passive" memberships. These are the farmers that are applying real business methods to farming and that are in line to profit in the future.

THE GRADUATES

This June, like the Junes of last year and the years before, will turn millions of young graduates from the high schools and colleges of this country into the world, ready to measure life in the terms of formulas which are set forth in books, but totally ignorant of the measurements which are taught by experience and of the severity of life's tests.

To the child, living in itself is an end; man requires a guiding purpose, a goal towards which to direct his footsteps. Setting his goal, youth sees the crown of triumph, at the most, a few years' march ahead, and when achievement, like the rainbow, a deceptive mirage, recedes as he advances, youth meets his sorest test.

It is unconquerable youth which says, "I am the captain of my soul" and the world is my apple waiting to be plucked. Books and the most sincere teachers have no weapons with which to fortify youth against frustrations which are inevitably met when he stretches for the stars.

If the graduates could be sent out into the world with a sound philosophy of life in place of their diplomas, if they could be given vision which would make translucent the darkest hours, life would hold for them few disappointments, and life also, would lose its zest, for an existence in which the route is mapped out, leaving no cause for exploration and discovery, would be devoid of the cherished associations which come of personal experience.

The forty young men and women who will be graduated from Antioch High School Monday night, with other graduates of this year, will find a world in which opportunity offers no wide, open entrances to any field. That, in itself, will bring discouragement at the start to those not among the few who will go on to college or find work waiting for them. But in a world which is discouraged and stagnant, there is more need than in yesterdays for the fresh visions of youth, and there is still opportunity for the young man and young woman, who have persistence and initiative to cut their niches in the world, shaping them for their own.

Whether they go on with their studies, or start their search for work, these graduates will meet problems of whose existence they are not now aware. They have before them the task of shaping their lives. Disappointments, triumphs which will melt to nothing when they are clutched, and those inner victories which bring the deepest satisfaction, will come to them in the course of their lives.

Some will find the philosophy of life which brings success within the man; some in their groping for the answer to life, will accept less than the truth. For twelve years, the school system has striven to give them a background with which to start their individual careers. What they put into the foregrounds, depends on themselves, their methods of tackling life, their manners of meeting defeat, their abilities to distinguish sham from reality.

Speed of Falling Bodies

Experiments have proved that the rate per second at which bodies acquire velocity in falling through the air is thirty-two feet. If a ball be allowed to fall from a tower, it is moving at the rate of thirty-two feet per second at the end of the first second; at the end of the next second with a velocity of sixty-four feet, and at the end of the third second at the rate of ninety-six feet per second.

Fish Fished Fisherman

A sixteen-year-old lad, of Tazewell, Ceylon, while fishing at the mouth of a river was carried more than 50 yards out to sea by a big fish. Then he relinquished his rod and swam back to safety. Two fishermen went out in a boat and picked up the rod. A big fish then sprang to the surface, broke the line and escaped.

Man's Supremacy

Scientists tell us that what has lifted man above the brute creation with which he has so much in common is the fact that he can touch each of his fingers with his thumb! No other living thing can do that. Try experiments with your own hand and see what a difference it would make if you could not do this simple-seeming act.

Red Indian Surgeons

It is evident that American Indians had knowledge of surgery, since trepanned skulls of aborigines are still in existence. It is probable that their surgeons also performed amputations.

YOU CAN ESCAPE
DENTAL DECAY

There are communities in the world which are almost dentally perfect. One of the most interesting of these is the remote little island of Tristan da Cunha in the south Atlantic Ocean, midway between Africa and South America. This is encouraging news to a world full of people with aching teeth, for it proves that it is possible, without any elaborate precautions, to have good, sound teeth, for obviously the islanders had no special knowledge of the subject that is kept from us. Too many people nowadays just sit back and resign themselves to tooth troubles as inescapable. As a matter of fact, most people could avoid toothache altogether. If they made use of the simple preventive measures now known to be practical—proper diet, cleanliness of teeth and regular dental examinations. Practically, you cannot afford not to prevent dental ills because "curing" them is so expensive. Of course, in the real sense of the word you can't cure dental decay at all for once a permanent tooth is lost it is gone forever.

Investigations of the dental conditions on this island, reported in the British Medical Journal, showed that the people's teeth were strong, regular and well-formed. The general health of the natives was also unusually good. All the people had exceptionally good teeth and 83 per cent of them had perfect mouths.

Diet Is Secret of Healthy Teeth.

Knowing the close relation of diet and teeth, the scientists studied the islanders' diet. They found that it consisted chiefly of fish, potatoes, milk, eggs, and some vegetables such as cabbage and turnips, and that there was a striking absence of sugar and cereals.

The diet used was rich in calcium and phosphorus and vitamins, which are known to be the elements that produce healthy teeth. It was lacking in those foods that tend to cause diseased teeth. Therefore, the investigators came to the conclusion that the peculiar diet of these islanders was the only likely explanation for their excellent dental condition.

This is just one more bit of evidence proving that it is not enough just to take care of the outside of the teeth by keeping them clean. In order to have good teeth, we must also build and nourish them from the inside, by eating the right foods and avoiding those foods that tend to encourage decay.

This is one of a series of articles on "How to Have Attractive Teeth" related in cooperation with and approved by the public service committee of the Chicago Dental Society.

NO week is complete that doesn't bring to the table a chocolate dessert. Here is a delightful roll, a luscious chocolate cake with a chocolate frosting that keeps beautifully, and a chocolate sauce for ice cream and other desserts.

Chocolate Sponge Roll

8 tablespoons sifted cake flour; 1/2 teaspoon baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 3/4 cup sifted sugar; 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten; 4 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sift together three times. Fold sugar, gradually, into egg whites. Fold in egg yolks and vanilla. Pour into pan, 15 x 10 inches, lined with greased paper, and bake in hot oven (400° F.) 12 minutes, or until done. Quickly cut off edges of cake. Turn from pan at sugar. Remove paper, roll, wrap in cloth until cool. Cover with chocolate coating made by adding 1 teaspoon melted butter to 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted.

Creole Loaf Cake

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour; 1/2 teaspoon baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1 cup sugar; 5 tablespoons softened butter or other shortening; 2 eggs, well beaten; 1/2 cup milk; 1/2 teaspoon vanilla; 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sift together three times. Add butter. Combine eggs, milk, and vanilla, and add to flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened. Add chocolate and blend. Then beat vigorously 1 minute. Bake in greased pan, 8 x 8 x 2 inches, in moderate oven (325° F.) 1 hour. Cover top and sides with Clever Judy Frosting.

Clever Judy Frosting

1 tablespoon butter; 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar; 1 egg or 2 egg yolks; 1/4 cup milk; 1/2 teaspoon vanilla; 2 to 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg, milk, vanilla, and chocolate, and beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Place bowl in pan of cracked ice or ice consistency to spread (about 2 minutes). Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 9-inch layers, or top and sides of one 8 x 8 x 2-inch cake.

Chocolate Syrup

2 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces; 1/2 cup cold water; 3/4 cup sugar; Dash of salt. Combine chocolate and water and cook over direct heat 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Add sugar and salt, return to fire, and cook 4 minutes longer. Pour into an air-tight jar and seal. When kept and used as needed, in chocolate drinks, as a sauce on ice cream, for syrup.

To us the telephone is a necessary farm 'tool,' which costs less to have than to be without. By using the telephone we save money and make money. And we like it because it helps us to make the most of what we have."

Counting a Million

The time it would take to count a million coins would depend upon the person. In the counting room at the Treasury department the silver is usually weighed rather than counted. An estimate has been made, however, that counting at the rate of 1 a second and 8 hours a day, it would take a person about 85 days to count one million coins.

May 22, 1933

I suppose that I may claim to be the first Ford Dealer. I not only made cars, but sold them and frequently delivered them myself.

The "drive away" is not new; often I have driven cars from Detroit to towns in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan to make delivery.

There were no good roads in those days, and the people where I drove had never seen a motor car before.

My first really enthusiastic customers were Country Doctors. They were the first to realize the value of dependable transportation to a widely scattered practice.

Even today I occasionally hear from some of those first Ford users. We had to teach local mechanics how to care for the cars. That is how Ford Service began, which is now found everywhere in the world.

We believed from the beginning that a sale does not complete our transaction with our customer — it creates upon us an obligation to see that our customer's car gives him service. Ford Dealers know their duty to the public in this respect.

I can say of Ford Dealers generally that they have been and are men of character and standing in their communities. Most of them have been with us many years, which indicates that we agree on basic business principles. The Company provides that the methods used to sell the Ford car are consistent with the self-respect of the Dealers who handle it.

The present Ford V-8 is the peak of our 30 years experience. We have never made a better car. Its eight-cylinder engine is powerful and smooth running. The car is admittedly very good looking and has comfortable riding qualities. It is economical in operation because of advanced engine design and low car weight. It is the fastest, roomiest and most powerful car we have ever built.

Excerpt from letter written by Archie Maplethorpe: "We have all been separated. I am in the regular army, in fact all the boys who left with me are, but we are in different companies. Joe Fernandez, Harry Cushing and myself in the 56th Infantry, Bernie Fields in the Quarter-master's Corps, and John Mueller in the Machine Gun company. I have not seen Harry Radtke since I was transferred, but some of the boys said he was transferred to the ammunition train. . . . We drill four hours in the morning and in the afternoon play games like tag, drop the handkerchief and three deep."

HintsCultivating Pleasing
Tone and Pitch Will Add Charm to VoiceMusical Speech Will Create
An Illusion of Beauty

More interesting than the Cinderella angle of the choice of a Rachine restaurant cashier as the Century of Progress beauty queen, is the list of qualities which were considered by the judges in making the selection. Beauty of face and figure alone were not adequate to place the crown on any girl's head, for the beauties from widely distributed sections of the United States, from two foreign countries, England and France, paraded, talked, sat down and rose to give the judges ample opportunity to judge their carriage, poise, grace and voices.

Although most women these days have their creams, powders and lipsticks for beautifying the face, and while nearly as many women restrict their diets, take exercises, wear garments which mould the contour, or at least choose their clothes to emphasize the best points of their figures, we rarely hear of a woman who gives attention to the cultivation of poise, grace in movement, or charm of voice.

The tones and expression of the voice are not sent back in the mirror's reflection, but when the mirror's reflection is plain and undisturbed, a beautifully modulated voice will create an illusion of beauty, and it is more easily cultivated than a new set of features or type of figure.

Shrill Voices Disturbing
Actual training for the speaking voice is something which few women care to afford or spend time in, but a surprising improvement can be made in the voice and the speech by a conscious personal effort.

High shrill voices are actually nerve wracking as well as disturbing to the listener. The voice which is pitched too high, has a quality of tenseness which stimulates further tenseness in the speaker and those within hearing distance. Voices become shrill and high pitched under stress of emotion, in anger, in sudden hurried excitement. The only cure is a schooled effort to speak slowly and to pitch the voice low. At first, controlling the pitch of the voice may seem unnatural, but eventually as the practice becomes a habit, the voice will assume a normally low, pleasant tone.

Voices which are hoarse or which have the nasal twang which Eastern and Southern persons consider an unpleasant characteristic attached to all Midwesterners, are quite as displeasing as the shrill voice, although they perhaps are less disturbing. Constant striving to speak low, in a well modulated tone, will add beauty to the voice.

Speaking Jargon
Although tones and pitch determine the actual sound of the voice, careful enunciation and pronunciation are equally important in pleasing speech. A lovely face can become absurd when the owner says, "Doncha know," or "y-understand." Careless speech, running words together in a hopeless jumble, talking in a monotonous drone, are all common faults with women as well as men through the Midwest. Speaking jargon, an unintelligible jumble of words, detracts from any distinction of bearing or face or figure which the speaker may possess.

Training the voice to loveliness takes considerable more time and effort than rouging the lips or powdering the nose, but on the other hand, the result is more permanent, and considering that the face must be re-finished several times a day, equal efforts devoted to the voice would achieve beauty of infection, perfection of pitch and develop a clear, distinct enunciation.

Reading aloud is an excellent method of voice training. If you are eager to develop an interesting voice, read Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," "Much Ado About Nothing," and "Macbeth," clearly and with expression. Plays and poetry are the best material for this training, the first because drama deals with situations which call forth expression, and the latter because of its rhythm.

Training one's ear for speech perfections and imperfections, will also be an aid. Attend the theatre or the talkies and with particular attention to the enunciation and expression of those professional voices. Notice whether your voice as well as your words, expresses your meaning when you talk. Avoid droning, running your words together, and losing control of your voice.

Six weeks of attention to your voice will change your speech and

Cool Drinks With Piquancy Are
Favorite Refreshments of Summer

A favorite refreshment of summer is the cool piquant drink which the thoughtful hostess serves as a stimulant for the flagging or jaded spirits of warm guests. Cool drinks are especially welcome to the afternoon caller, to afternoon and evening bridge guests as a break in the period of playing, to the family at the conclusion of a game of golf, the aftermath of an evening of dancing, or for those returning at the end of a day of work, in that interval of waiting before dinner or supper is ready.

To be truly refreshing, summer drinks must not be insipid, must be tart, but not sour, and must in all cases be cool, with a frosted coolness suggested by the tinkle of ice against thin glass. Drink recipes are the result of women's adventures, taking a little of this and a little of that, and experimenting.

Iced tea and lemonade are the most common of the summer drinks, and while both are excellent, tea is best served with a meal, and lemonade lacks the mystery which is half the enticement of your summer drink.

Drink Served Recently

A drink which combined the qualities of mystery and piquancy was served at a recent Antioch bridge party. The hostess used the following ingredients:

1 pint grape juice
Juice of 3 large grapefruit
Juice of 2 lemons
Juice of 8 oranges.

which were diluted with water to the desired strength and sweetened. Sixteen guests were served, some of whom had their glasses refilled.

Drinks made with fruit ices offer something different for the summer party. For every two cups of liquid in your favorite drink recipe, add one cup of orange, lemon, lime or cherry ice.

Sparkie Punch

2 pints ginger ale
2 tablespoons lemon juice
7 slices of orange
1 pint white grape juice
½ cup plain sirup.

Mix grape juice, lemon juice and sirup. Add ginger ale and pour at once into tall glasses half full of finely cracked ice. Garnish with a thin slice of orange and serve at once. Serves seven.

Mint Julep

1 quart water
1 cup orange juice
1 pint grape juice
2 cups sugar
Juice of 8 lemons
1 cup strawberry juice.

Make a sirup of sugar and water. Chop 12 sprigs of fresh mint and pour ½ cups boiling water over it. Let stand five minutes. Strain and add to the sirup. Then add the fruit juices. Chill and pour over a block of ice in punch bowl. Dilute with iced water if desired. Serves eight to ten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla; fold in egg whites. Bake in greased pan, 11 x 7 x 3 inches, in slow oven (325° F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Spread Baked Frosting on top and sides of cake. Sprinkle with shredded coconut, if desired.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Fold in egg whites gently, but thoroughly. Dixie White Cake
3 cups sifted cake flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ cup butter or other shortening; 1½ cups sugar; 1 cup water; 1 teaspoon lemon extract; 1 cup shredded coconut; 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with water, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add lemon extract and coconut. Beat until well mixed. Fold in egg whites gently, but thoroughly. Bake in greased pan, 8 x 12 x 2 inches, in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour and 15 minutes, or until done. Frost with Baked Frosting.

Baked Frosting
1½ cups granulated sugar; 2/3 cup boiling water; ½ teaspoon light corn syrup; 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten; 1/8 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla; or ½ teaspoon each vanilla and almond extract. Combine sugar, water, and corn syrup. Place over low flame and stir constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue cooking until a small amount of amount forms hard ball in cold water or spins a long thread when dropped from tip of spoon (234° F.). Pour ½ of syrup slowly over egg whites, beating constantly. Cook remaining syrup until a small amount forms hard ball in cold water (234° F.). Beat salt into egg white mixture, continue beating until cool and stiff enough to spread. Make enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 8-inch layers.

Chic Chatter

The clever girl and her mother who recognize the importance of the little touches in being smartly dressed, should have no difficulty in squeezing these accessories into even a most economical budget, for many of fashion's favorites this season can be made of inexpensive materials. Pique accessories, which are the note stressed in the summer costumes, include purses, hats, ascots, jackets, capes and coats, and gloves. With the exception of the gloves, these items can all be made inexpensively. Patterns can be secured or the woman who can cut her own patterns will find an abundant supply of pictures in the fashion magazines and city department store advertisements to use as models. Pique slip covers will change an old purse into a smart addition to the costume.

Crochet string belts can be made even by the beginner. String belts, purses, hats, sweaters and capes are equally as smart as pique, in string or pastel shades.

Bathing suits are cut low in back this summer, but often surprisingly high in front. Gingham, rubber materials, silks and rough knits are the popular materials. Dark shades, rich browns, greens, blues and reds, are popular colors. Pastels are out of the picture if one wishes to be smartly in the swim.

A neutral crash or black linen jacket will add dash to any wardrobe. With neutral—a deep blue, black, red, or green linen dress is smart. With the black—white, currant, the new red shade, pastels, and black one-piece dresses will complete an outfit which is smart for a day spent in the city or at the World's Fair.

The new beach dress, which is heralded as the successor to the beach pajama, is designed in wrap around style which simplifies getting in and out of it on the beach, and it is moderately short so the legs are exposed to the sun. Those who remain partisans of the beach pajama will find these garments are still being made—and worn—and sold.

The new headbands for keeping bobbed hair in place are being fashioned these days for all occasions. Ornamented, jeweled bands are intriguing for party wear. Bands designed especially for sports wear are practical for those who dislike bothering with a hat.

Opportunity

Men do not need more opportunities so much as they need to learn how to take advantage of present opportunities. An opportunity neglected constitutes a rebuke. The human so-called mind often seems so blind that it does not perceive a genuine opportunity. This was illustrated in the case of Hagar, who, with her child, was thirsting for drink in the wilderness. To Hagar's material thought death seemed inevitable. But when an angel, God's messenger, corrected her thinking by uplifting her vision, Hagar found her need supplied. This is but one illustration of how the claim of evil, if heeded, would blind mortals to their God-bestowed opportunities.

What is an opportunity? It sometimes seems as though this question needed specific definition. It is defined in part in a dictionary as "a time, or occasion attended with propitious or favoring circumstances." Have we ever found ourselves in a position where it was impossible to do good—where there was no occasion to do good, for ourselves or others, in the service of God? Surely the opportunity for service is ever available, and is the spirit and essence of all employment. Our mind has been in measuring opportunity in terms of self-profit, forgetting that our own need can really be supplied only as we bless others. True service is designed to benefit and bless our fellow men. If this sense of opportunity were grasped and utilized, unemployment would be as impossible as an amalgamation of light and darkness.

Some may claim that their failure was due to a lack of opportunity, thus making opportunity the cause of success and the lack of it the cause of failure. The fact is that opportunity is a state of thought, a natural component of a spiritual, mental condition. Hope, faith, and love offer continuous opportunities, while their suppositional opposites—despair, doubt, and hate—are blind and ignorant and cannot recognize a true opportunity. Only while thought wanders in the morass of material-mindedness does opportunity seem to be blighted. Enlightened thought sees opportunity of one kind or another in every experience. On pages 232 and 233 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes, "There is neither place nor opportunity in Science for error of any sort." Thus we learn that disease, sin, and discord have no opportunity to be expressed because they are not realities but fancies. In Christian Science we find that evil and error, not being derived from God, are without influence or verity.

The law of cause and effect operating through Christian Science supplies an opportunity to accomplish every good work. What greater opportunity could anyone visualize than that offered in the words of Christ Jesus: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." If thought dwells in God, then all desirable things are possible. It is only erroneous belief that renders obscure the infinite possibilities of man. As we understand the false nature of evil—its powerlessness, even nothingness—all obscurity and ambiguity will vanish, and harmony be discerned as the natural order of being.

Possibility implies opportunity. The occasion for righteous attainment is here and now. Infinite good, the all-knowing Mind, is eternally conscious of all the phenomena of real being. All good is possible because it is the expression of perfect Being. The opportunity to accomplish any good and worthy purpose is God-bestowed.

Why, then, does there seem to be so much lost opportunity, so much failure and disappointment? Mainly because mortals allow their vision to be clouded by evil—fear, envy, jealousy, malice, revenge. We run into disappointment when we seek material rather than spiritual gain. The acceptance of carnal suggestions blinds the vision of mortals. In this wrong state of thought one may not discern the opportunity at hand. Paul saw this when he admonished, "And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind." That is, Allow not your thoughts to wander in mortal or evil ways, but transform your consciousness by thinking spiritual thoughts. We are to do this that we "may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God." In this way only can we fulfill the grand possibilities of real being.

When we cease looking for opportunities from without—from environment, person, place, or thing—and look for them in the realm of true thought, we shall not meet with disillusionment and frustration. The spiritually enlightened thought is in possession of the spiritual faculties which discern distinct and serviceable opportunities.

We always have one opportunity of employment that we seem prone to overlook. It is the opportunity of improving our thinking. When we realize the connection between our thinking and our environment, and discern the true meaning of cause and effect, we shall vigilantly increase our efforts to be faithful to Truth by thinking constructive and spiritual thoughts.—The Christian Science Monitor.

WHY IS MILK THE "TOOTH FOOD"?

All the scientists who have conducted experiments proving the effect of diet on teeth, agree that for healthy teeth, the diet of the child should contain about a quart of milk each day, and that the adult should have at least a pint.

The reason for this is that teeth are for the most part made of lime and phosphorus, and milk is the best single source of these two minerals. The outside layer of the crown which is the part of the tooth above the gums, is enamel; the next layer is a bone-like substance called dentine, and in the center of the tooth is the pulp, composed of blood vessels, nerves and tissue-cells. The pulp of a normal tooth is a live, healthy organ, and like all other organs of the body it needs the right kind of nourishment.

Milk is the Best Source of Calcium. Milk supplies all the calcium needed by the body both for teeth and general health and a large portion of its phosphorus requirement. Hence, nutritionists have come to refer to milk as the "tooth-building" food, the "most nearly perfect food," and so on.

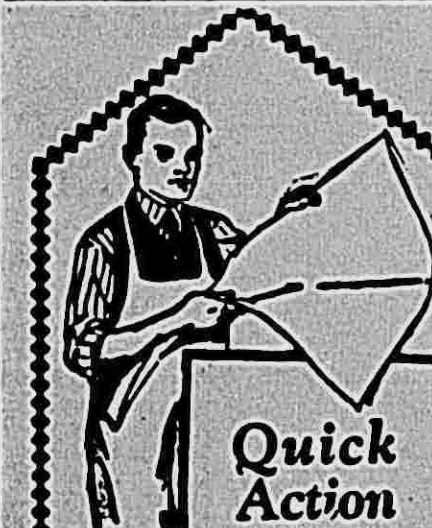

By saying that milk is the best source of these elements we mean not only that it supplies them in the largest amounts but also in the form most easily taken up and used by the body. For instance, Professor Henry C. Sherman of Columbia University has found by careful experiment that the calcium and phosphorus of milk are much more easily used than are the same minerals when they occur in vegetables. His studies disclosed the fact that for building teeth and maintaining general health every child should have a quart of milk every day, taken either as a beverage or in foods prepared with milk.

The value of milk is most clearly shown by comparing the quantities of other foods which would have to be taken to get the same amounts of calcium. For example, you would have to eat 42 pounds of meat or 30 pounds of potatoes to get as much calcium as is contained in one quart of milk, which is specified as the amount needed by children each day.

And when you drink the milk needed for good teeth, you are insuring for yourself, not only good teeth, but good health.

This is one of a series of articles on "How to Have Attractive Teeth" released in cooperation with and approved by the public service committee of the Chicago Dental Society.

Fox Lake Activities

Fox Lake C. of C. Plans Attractions to Draw Visitors to Lotus Beds

Tentative plans for co-operating with other Lake County towns, particularly those of the West county lake region, in attracting Century of Progress visitors to the Lotus beds, were outlined by the board of directors of the Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting called by the president, Fred Elter. "All of Lake County will benefit by the tourist trade that can be drawn to any part of the territory," Elter states. "Those who visit the lakes may be induced to visit Zion or Fort Sheridan. The advantages of local hotels and transportation should be set forth to all visitors. The Lotus beds will be a natural attraction, but we will all profit by working together."

Fox Lake leaders believe legalized beer will prove a boon this year, because in the past few years, Chicagoans have deserted the Lake County resort area to go to Wisconsin where beer might be secured without interference. Summer activities such as boat races and swimming meets may also be sponsored by Fox Lake's civic organization as an attraction.

Aces Win over Waukegan Team in Holiday Game; Play Lake Geneva Sun.

Following their victory Memorial Day over the City Service ball team of Waukegan, Antioch's Aces are looking forward with optimism to the game to be played against the Fontana team from Lake Geneva Sunday afternoon at the Antioch park.

Schneider scored a home run for Antioch in the game Tuesday in which the Waukegan players were defeated by an 8-7 score at the end of the eleventh inning. Nelson made three runs in the game and Bown two. Twelve men were struck out by the Waukegan pitcher, Richardson. Seven men went out on the pitching of Bown, Antioch man.

Butter Supply Must Be From TB-Free Sources

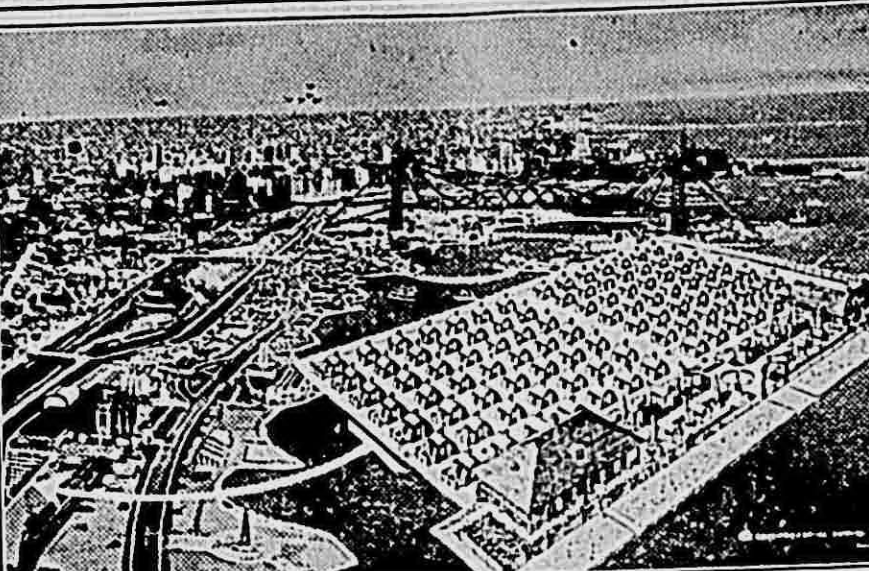

Cleveland, Ohio, has a city ordinance requiring that butter sold in the city must come from the milk of cows that have passed the tuberculin test. The ordinance became effective January 1, 1932.

Cleveland officials anticipate no serious opposition to the enforcement of the new ordinance. Tentative arrangements have already been made for the proper labeling of butter from tuberculin-tested sources so that it may be readily identified. It is understood that the term "tuberculin-tested" means an area in which the dairy herds have been tested under federal and state supervision and which is officially designated as a "modified accredited area," that is, an area in which not more than one-half of 1 per cent of the cattle are tuberculous.

EGG LAYERS IN CONTEST

International Competition at A Century of Progress

Courtesy American Poultry Journal

An aerial view of Chicago Century of Progress which will include an International Egg Laying Contest. The artist's sketch in the right foreground shows the detail of the Poultry Exhibit. Here 3,000 of the best birds of the laying breeds, specially fed and housed, will compete for individual and pen honors every week for 5 months—May 28th to October 29th, 1933.

Millions of city folks along with millions of their country cousins will have the opportunity to see at first hand the operation of modern poultry plants at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, May 28th to October 29th.

More than 3,000 of the best producing hens in the country will be entered in an International Egg Laying Contest under the auspices of the National Poultry Council.

The American public is not consuming the number of eggs annually that our Canadian neighbors are, according to the poultry officials. Harry C. Wood, Manager of the International Egg Laying Contest at the Century of Progress, states that Canadians eat 50 more eggs per capita than do U. S. citizens.

"One of the purposes in conducting this exhibit," says Mr. Wood, "is to make millions of new friends for the poultry industry. Also we want to demonstrate in a practical way what good quality in eggs really means."

In this effort to prove the producing ability of hens kept under proper conditions and fed according to proper feeding methods the Official Rules Committee of the Contest has decided upon an Official Egg Laying Mash and Scratch Grain which must be fed to all birds entered. After an exhaustive search for a feed that would meet all requirements the committee selected Purina Breeder Egg Chowder and Purina Hen Chow.

Thus the exhibition of the poultry people will not only be recreational but informative, and as such

Oats Replace Corn for Hogs in Purdue Ration

Swine feeding results at Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., show that oats in rations for swine should be limited to one-half the weight of the ration. More than this weight is not used economically and gains are slower.

The corn replacement value of the oats varies according to the amount of oats used. When one-fourth of the ration was oats, one bushel of oats replaced two-thirds of a bushel of corn. Where oats made up one-half the ration, a bushel of oats was equal to only one-half bushel of corn.
